2018 PROGRAMMES AND TRAININGS UPDATE

This year, IACA will once again provide a wide range of anti-corruption and compliance programmes and trainings to empower professionals from around the world.

The first of many open trainings in 2018 is a new seminar on The External Investigator's Perspective in Regulatory Compliance Investigations at IACA in early March.

This will be followed by IACA's well-established mid-year trainings, including the Summer Academy, and then in autumn by the start of the sixth Master in Anti-Corruption Studies class.

IACA will also develop and deliver numerous tailor-made trainings during 2018 at the request of organizations around the world. Click here to read more.

Procurement Specialist and Member of the Internal Negotiations Board, Social Security Board of Rwanda

“ The experience I got from IACA's Procurement Anti-Corruption Training 2017 was very important, as I realized that although participants came from different countries, we all faced similar problems regarding corruption in procurement. We shared our experiences and learned from the best trainers who had so much knowledge. This was a once in a lifetime experience, and I thank IACA for making it happen.

IACA ACADEMIC PROGRAMMES

IACA offers two master's programmes for anti-corruption and compliance professionals from around the world who wish to pursue their studies while remaining fully employed. Graduating students receive internationally recognized MA degrees with 120 ECTS credits under the European Higher Education Area ("Bologna process").

MASTER IN ANTI-CORRUPTION STUDIES

The MACS is a two-year, modular degree programme in anti-corruption and compliance.

Interdisciplinary in nature, it combines distance learning with in-class sessions (at IACA or other locations worldwide), written assignments, and a final thesis. The MACS faculty is an international array of leading experts in their respective fields.

IACA now looks forward to welcoming the sixth intake of MACS students from around the world for the class beginning in October 2018.
